

Name	Low-hanging fruit exercise
Methodology	The facilitator prepares a visual support for the exercise (usually, a simple picture of a tree is sufficient). Participants are asked to add actions or solutions that they would like to implement, sorting them based on the level of complexity. With the support of the facilitator, participants cherry-pick the low-hanging solutions based on the expected results. To finalize the exercise, participants sort all the activities from the lowest-hanging fruit to the highest-hanging one.
